Stiphtung Christoph Sonntag / Christoph Sonntag Phoundation

For over 25 years now, Christoph Sonntag has been the Swabians' comedic mouth-piece, and is one of Germany's best-known cabaret artists and satirical entertainers. In 2017 his charitable foundation (or "phoundation", as he likes to call it), the Stiphtung Christoph Sonntag, celebrated its 10th jubilee. The foundation focuses primarily on projects to do with nature and the environment as well as on social (educational) themes. It aims to improve the world around one's own front door in some way and make a direct difference. After successfully saving the Max Eyth Lake in Stuttgart, Sonntag is now particularly involved in helping disadvantaged children and young people in the Stuttgart Region.

Das Blaue Haus des Förderkreis krebskranke Kinder e.V. Stuttgart The Blue House of the Support Group for Child Cancer Sufferers in Stuttgart

The Blue House, with 900 sq.m of space on three floors, offers a temporary home to families whose child is suffering from cancer. Family members can live here while their child is receiving inpatient treatment; they can switch off, find support, and in particular be near their children, because the location of the Blue House was chosen for its close proximity to the Olgahospital, one of Germany's largest paediatric hospitals, and one with a long tradition. Under the roof of the Stuttgart Cancer Center (SCC), the Department of Oncology, Haematology and Immunology is an important point of contact for children and young people suffering from all forms of cancer.

Social Day – a Joint Effort for a Good Cause

A Social Day provides an opportunity for companies and conference organisers to incorporate hands-on civic engagement into programmes for staff and conference participants. Working collectively gives participants unforgettable encounters and experiences, because they come directly into contact with those who benefit from their help: for example with refugees, people with visual impairment, senior citizens, or children and young people from socially disadvantaged families. Participating teams are strengthened and important impulses generated, not only to empathise with the reality of other people's lives, but also to further one's own personal development.
